Just how fine is the Lafayette? Perhaps the best answer is the common verdict of more than seven hundred owners who have put it to intolerant tests. They say that Lafayette is without equal in all their experience.

FRANCE WILL HAVE NO
PEACE OF MYSTICISMSecurity of Country, Briand
Says, Prevents Her From Sharing Ideal.

EXPLAINED TO ALLIES

Will Try to Help Germany
Adapt Herself to Respect for Treaties.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Oct. 19.—The Washington conference must be made a success, the peace and tranquility of the world requires it, said Premier Briand in an address delivered to-day at a luncheon of the Anglo-American Press Association.

The theme of the Premier's speech was that France always had been a lover of peace and had sought arbitration whenever arbitration was possible in disputes. He declared that peace now should be organized by reducing the military burden lying on countries which, like France, had sacrificed blood, money and everything during the war.

But France's security, M. Briand continued, prevented her from sharing in a "peace of mysticism."

"We have explained this to our allies, whose special geographical position saves them from sharing our inquietude, we have shown them things as they are," said the Premier. "And after frank and loyal explanations the accord has been maintained and strengthened."

"While I have the honor to be the head of the French Government I shall use every effort to consolidate peace, to extend the peace so as to facilitate the task of our enemy of yesterday in modernizing his country, in adapting it to the definite ideas of peace and to the loyal and elementary conception of the probability between peoples, which consists of respecting signed engagements and executing them."

"I am convinced the Washington Government will give satisfaction to the anxieties as regards peace that are felt by the entire world."

The opposition in the Chamber of Deputies boldly seized upon the proposed Washington trip of Premier Briand as a basis of attack in the debate on interpellations, which was resumed to-day, drawing from the Premier a declaration that he thought France must be represented there and ought to be represented by the president of the council.

"If Mr. Lloyd George goes," he said, replying to a question, "it will be a pleasure for me to meet him in Washington, but if circumstances should prevent him from going I do not understand why we should preoccupy ourselves with the fact in this debate. If he does not go it will be because of certain impossibilities. But here you have to do with me, and I consider that it is to the interest of France that I go."

"It is possible that Parliament may raise obstacles to that interpretation; it is for it to say whether I go to Washington or not."

M. Briand appeared to be less responsive to the attack of Deputy Maillard, who declared that the Premier ought not to go to Washington, than to other attacks. M. Maillard made the most of the difficulties encountered in the execution of the Treaty of Versailles, holding the Government responsible for all delays and for all concessions for the purpose of reaching a compromise on hotly disputed questions.

The leaders of the Opposition, especially Andre Tardieu, are very active in canvassing the Chamber as the debate proceeds, indicating that this is to be the most determined assault yet made against the Cabinet. Official circles, nevertheless, are optimistic and count upon an ample majority to give the Premier the necessary prestige to go to Washington.

THE will of Mlle. Louise Gallien, an octogenarian, who opened last night revealed that she had bequeathed her entire fortune, amounting to 7,000,000 francs, to the city's poor. For years she was prominent in Parisian philanthropic work. In this Mlle. Gallien followed the example set by her uncle, who died ten years ago, leaving a fortune of more than 10,000,000 francs to Paris charities.

SOVIETS A CURE-ALL
LENINE CONTENTSFeudalism and Barbaric Capitalism
Overthrown by Revolution, He Asserts.

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, Oct. 18.—Nikolai Lenin, the Russian Soviet Premier, who has just returned from a vacation, reviewed Russia's communistic efforts to-day in a long article published by Pravda, the Soviet newspaper.

"The October revolution," he writes, "has overthrown feudalism and barbaric capitalism, which were impediments to Russian culture. After four years we are sure we are right. We have been especially successful with the religious and feminist problems. We have eliminated religious ignorance and also the shame of inequality between man and woman. We also have given freedom to Russian nationalities for the establishment of autonomous governments."

"The Soviet regime is the maximum of democracy for peasants and workers. We have given the world a new type of democracy, namely, a proletarian dictatorship. The most difficult of our tasks has been the rebuilding of our economic structure, but we are going ahead."

"We had hoped by raising the peoples' enthusiasm to overcome the economic difficulties, but now the realities of life have shown us that was not enough. Long years of work are necessary to pass from capitalism into socialism, and finally into communism."

The announcement that Earl Cavan, who was in command of the British army operating in Italy in the last year of the world war, has been charged with carrying the Victoria Cross to the United States to decorate the tomb of America's unknown warrior at Arlington, does not preclude the possibility of the Duke of York going to America, and if he goes, of making an extended tour of the country, visiting places of which his elder brother, the Prince of Wales, told glowing stories. It is an open secret among the Prince's intimates that he never tires of telling of some of the less formal parties at which he had a "perfectly splendid" time. With Earl Haig also going to Washington, however, the only consideration influencing a decision regarding the Duke of York's trip is that American hospitality might actually be overtaken with so many distinguished persons in Washington and other centers. The appointment of Earl Cavan is giving great satisfaction in British army circles, where he was one of the most popular commanders in the war.

Meanwhile much opposition has been aroused here by the announcement by the authorities of Westminster Abbey that the final resting place of the Congressional Medal of Honor, which was awarded Great Britain's unknown warrior is to be in a glass case in the Chapter House instead of on the tomb itself. "Very few who visit the tomb of the unknown warrior will make it a point of seeking the somewhat dark and dingy Chapter House in the east cloisters. We suggest that it is scarcely fitting that the little gold medal with its broad riband of blue, which to-day fastens sentiment in its conspicuous place on the tomb, should be among the exhibits which include the charters of William the Conqueror, the Countess of Richmond's household bills, the seals of Henry VIII, and of Charles II, and other historic impedimenta. The place for the medal is at the tomb itself."

The placing of the medal on the tomb itself, however, is not without difficulties. The tomb lies just within the center of the great west doors and at the foot of the main aisle, where millions of feet have worn the paving hollow. The present temporary slab will soon be replaced by a permanent one, and many wreaths and tributes which have lain within the temporary inclosure since last year will be removed. It was denied to-day that British officials ever repulsed a suggestion that France should decorate the Westminster tomb of the unknown with the Medaille Militaire or the Legion d'Honneur. Now that a precedent is established with the Victoria Cross it is regarded as not unlikely that an intimation will be received soon that France is anxious to exchange decorations with her.

BULGARIA FOR UNION OF SOUTHERN SLAVS

Seeks Cooperation of Jugo-Slavs Toward Federation.

New York Herald Bureau, Berlin, Oct. 19.

Bulgaria is concentrating all her efforts to bring about an understanding with Jugo-Slavs with the idea of building a federation of Southern Slavic States. Despite the hostility of the Serbs in Bulgaria it is expected that cooperation is possible on the basis of their mutual dislike for Greece.

Premier Stamboulliski recently met Croatian and Slovenian leaders at Karin and obtained their assent to the plan. Italian influence is exerting every possible pressure against such a union. Premier Stamboulliski is said to anticipate the rehabilitation of Russia as the leader of the Slavic nations and a reconciliation between the Bulgars and the peoples of Central and Eastern Europe.

By the Associated Press.

VIENNA, Oct. 19.—The agreement reached at the conference in Venice concerning Burgenland was rejected to-day by the Foreign Affairs Committee of the Chamber. A resolution passed by the committee characterized the attitude of the Entente as pro-Hungarian in favoring the territorial provisions of the St. Germain treaty.

The Government, however, is authorized in the resolution to renew its negotiations with Hungary at the same time safeguarding Austria's interests and the rights of the population of Burgenland.

By the Associated Press.
